

Who is Reverend Shaheerah Stephens?

Two New York Times best selling authors have this to say about her...

Marianne Williamson says, "Shaheerah is a bright star on the spiritual horizon, her truth hits the bulls eye."

Iyanla Vanzant says of her work, "The Wealth of a Spiritual Woman"... "There is nothing more valuable than The Wealth of a Spiritual Woman. Shaheerah reminds us of that and teaches us how to keep our valuables safe... this book is a divine investment." Iyanla Vanzant says in her book, Yesterday I Cried, "Had it not been for Shaheerah's prayers, her faith in me, her words...Iyanla never would have been born. Shaheerah was like a midwife who knew exactly what to do or say to turn me around."

Who is she? Author, Minister, Columnist, Trainer, Keynote speaker, graduate of Wayne State University, Mass Communications. Ordained in ministry through Unity School of Christianity in Lee's Summit, Missouri. Founding Pastor of Transforming Love Community.

Shaheerah has served in the community as an educator and trainer in many prevention programs for youth. She has provided training for displaced women and men through many human service agencies locally and nationally. In 1998 she received an award for the "1998 List of the Most Influential Black Women in Metropolitan Detroit" in recognition of her contributions to the community. She also received the "Spirit of Detroit Award". Shaheerah has numerous awards for her work in the community.

Her track record is extensive with such clients as General Motors, McDonald's Corp., City of Detroit, State of Michigan, State of Pennsylvania, Michigan State University, University of Michigan, Fort Knox Military Base, Children's Center, Children's Hospital, Southwest Hospital, Wayne State University, SHAR House, and many, many more.

She's a monthly columnist in PhenomeNEWS. Radio host, "Transforming Lives" aired on Sundays, 9:30 am on 1200AM NEWSTALK RADIO. She's a former TV Host, Channel 20's "Focus Family".

Her mission and passion is to create forums and venues that speak to each person's ability to transform their lives. She believes this empowerment begins with the transformation of the mind. She travels the country teaching people that they have a purpose in life and once they understand who they really are and principles that govern the universe, nobody and nothing can stop them from succeeding.
